KENTUCKIANS!

Reasons Why They Should Stand For Governor Bradley.

HE MIGHT BE PRESIDENT.

Opposition to Him in Kentucky is Largely in "Fake" Dispatches.

THE SITUATION AS IT IS.

Correspondence Public Ledger.

LOUISVILLE, March 30th.

All of the talk about opposition to Governor Bradley in the Republican party in Kentucky originates from the personal jealousy of a very few men who have been disappointed in their schemes to use the Governor. These men who are seeking to divide the party in Kentucky with promises of patronage and with threats against those who do not side with them are offering an insult to the intelligence of the party in the state.

McKinley is not by any means the certain winner that a few anti Bradley men, aided by Democratic papers, are trying to make the Kentucky Republicans believe. And if McKinley should be nominated and elected, the men who are now most loudly claiming that they are to distribute all the patronage will not be able to discharge the promises that they are making, because McKinley and his managers have not authorized and will not assume the responsibility for them.

Governor Bradley deserves the united and hearty support of all Kentucky Republicans, not only because he carried the party banner to victory, but because he represents the Kentucky idea in National politics. The free silverites of all political denominations would be delighted to see Governor Bradley beaten, because he stands today as the foremost sound-money advocate in the United States. To him more than to any other public man is credit due for the repudiation of free silver, and the straddles on the subject that both parties had, up to last year, been guilty of. The people of Kentucky will not forget his utterances at the Auditorium last year that electrified the people, not only of Kentucky, but of the country; and they will not forget that Governor Bradley had both the courage to take this advanced position and the ability to defend it against the combined assaults of Democrats and Populists.

When William O. Bradley unhesitated and silenced the free-silver Democrat, P. W. Hardin, in the presence of that magnificent audience at the first joint debate, the man would have been thought crazy who had intimated that if the splendid leader and orator should win his first, any Republican would dare oppose instructions for him for President of the United States. But in less than a year petty jealousies of small men, suddenly brought into view on the swell of the great political wave, are setting them selves up in opposition to the man by whose ability and courage it has been made possible for them to be even known.

For a quarter of a century William O. Bradley has been building a political structure that will stand long after the small bore politicians who think their names ought to be written on the same page with his are forgotten. Accidental products of a great political upheaval, mere lay figures in the greatest political drama since the war, these mannikins are held up by Democratic party orators as the great actors in the play, thereby to confuse the Republicans and draw them from their allegiance to the man whose genius and power alone produced the results that his party is proud of.

Governor Bradley's chances for the Presidential nomination are improving every day. McKinley's friends are working hard, and so far have the lead, but it is utterly improbable that they will have anything like the more than 450 votes necessary to nominate in the Convention at St. Louis. And against McKinley will to drop in any place you see the sign "Jeweler," when your watch don't keep time and you want it put in such condition that it will. Not one in every ten can make more than a bluff at cleaning it. It ought to be cleaned, of course, but cleaning is the smallest item of all that goes toward making a watch keep time. There are many fine adjustments that may have become deranged, or if some of the delicate parts are badly worn, it requires the highest grade of skill in watchmaking to repair it so it will keep perfect time.

A watch made right here---cut from the raw material, pronounced by experts to be equal to anything they have ever seen in finish and workmanship---that we have carried for over ten years will sustain our claim to being the only place in Maysville where you can have your watch put in perfect order, no matter what it needs.

J. BALLENGER, Maysville, Ky.

be such old fighters as Quay, Platt, Carter, Manly, Clarkson, De Young, and all the friends of Reed, Morton, Allison, and last, but by no means least, Benjamin Harrison. And right there the politician who thinks that Harrison is not looking toward St. Louis, is making a great mistake. Harrison is not going into the scramble, but he has promised McKinley's friends that he will not oppose him, as that would help Reed. However, Harrison's ardent friends would be glad to see McKinley fall of a majority, so that the President might be in line as a solution of the Presidential problem.

After McKinley and Morton and Reed, who will each try desperately to prevent the nomination of either of the others, there is no name that will be so pleasant to the ear of the National Republican Convention as that of Bradley of Kentucky. He has the good will of every faction in the party; his candidacy has not been pushed by his friends as against anyone and his nomination would not cause any soreness, except to the free silver men. If the free silver men control the Convention Governor Bradley will not be considered, and his friends will not want him to be; but if the Republican party is true to its principles, it will make a platform that is sound on the currency and on the Tariff, and no other prominent Republican stands more squarely on such a platform than does Bradley of Kentucky.

For years the Kentucky Republicans have gone into National Conventions as by courtesy, controlling no electoral in the estimation of the party of the country. It will place the Kentucky party in the unfavorable position of being a mere aggregation of self-seekers, careless of the grand results of Governor Bradley's splendid victory for party principles, and only eager to get in line for Federal patronage, and lacking the self-respect to stand up for a Kentucky Republican and the claims of the Republican party in this state for National recognition.

And the country will see in the success of a few disgruntled politicians and office-seekers the proof that there is one Republican in Kentucky who is a great man, and that his party is lacking in the elements of greatness that deserve the splendid leadership of such a man as Governor Bradley. The failure of Kentucky Republicans to send a solid Bradley delegation to St. Louis would not win the gratitude of any Presidential candidate who might profit by such treachery to the acknowledged leader of the party in the state, but it would earn for them the contempt of those for whom such treachery is practiced. The Benedict Arnolds of politics are rewarded by the same contempt that those of war.

Many farmers have burned no plant buds says The Dover News, and those who burned early have not as yet seen any signs of sprouting plants. The ground is so wet now in this section that it will be some days before it will be in condition for sowing. But there is a "good time and a harvest" and there is time yet. The best crop of tobacco raised in our neighborhood in Bracken one year was set with plants from a bed sowed April 30th, with soaked seed.

How's this for push? The Methodists of Lexington have organized a Sunday school, and have a large attendance at their regular morning services at the schoolhouse. A movement is also on foot to build a new Methodist Church at that place. It is understood that Mr. Fisher will donate the lot and lumber, Mr. Barrett will give $500 cash, Mr. Jones will do the plastering and others will donate work sufficient to complete a handsome edifice which will be a credit to the town.

During the winter of 1893, F. M. Martin of Lexington, West Va., contracted a severe cold which left him with a cough. In speaking of how he cured it he says: "I used several kinds of cough syrup but found no relief until I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved me almost instantly, and in a short time brought about a complete cure." When troubled with a cough or cold use this remedy and you will not find it necessary to try several kinds before you get relief. It has been in the market for over twenty years and constantly grown in favor and popularity. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by J. S. Wood, Druggist.

votes, representing no great principle in advance of their party and presenting no name that commanded the confidence of the party for practical success.

But now for the first time they have a leader whose name in the St. Louis Convention will evoke more disinterested enthusiasm than any other, and who can challenge any other Republican in the country to show the same probable strength before the people of the whole country.

If the Kentucky Republicans are not a unit for Governor Bradley the result will not be to detract at all from Governor Bradley's solid reputation, but it will lower the Republican party of Kentucky

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 3.—A special received at 11 o'clock Thursday night from Brunswick, Ga., says: The fire which commenced Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock and is now burning, destroyed a half million dollars' worth of property, cost one human life, caused one to be mangled and crippled, and prostrated four men, who are suffering in various stages. The dead man is Night Watchman Smith, of the Plant system, who died from asphyxiation, due to excitement. The injured lost a hand, but his name is unknown. The men prostrated are Negroes. The property destroyed includes the warehouse, cotton sheds, freight warehouses, tracks, part of the freight in the warehouses, etc., all belonging to the Plant system and comprises their local terminal freight facilities, a number of freight cars and between 10,000 and 20,000 cross ties, the property of N. On Bay street, from Monk street up, the fire swept Herzog's brick building used as a retail dry goods store; Hirsch's wholesale and retail store, several smaller stores and two empty stores, all in a block of brick buildings.

At this hour it is impossible to gain anything like an accurate statement of the losses, but the estimates place the plant system at $700,000; Downing, $250,000; Brynnick and Pedroni, $200,000; Hoy, $150,000; Newman, $200,000; Messrs. Downing and Lott about covered by insurance. Mr. Newman has $50,000 insured.

FATAL TRAGEDY.

COLUMBIA, Ga., April 3.—A special from Concord, Ga., says: A fatal tragedy occurred here Thursday, in which two men were fatally shot. About seven o'clock Sheriff Guinn and a posse went to the house of Taylor Bell, a notorious desperado, to arrest him for robbery and assault. As the sheriff arrived at the door he was shot through the left side. While Guinn was lying on the front porch begging for some one to come and get him, John F. Madden, attempted to drag him off and was fired on, the ball passing through both thighs, breaking both legs.

Of the Interior Department, With Half a Dozen Men and a U. S. Marshal, Drowned in Rainy Lake.

CROOKSTON, Minn., April 3.—A letter received by the Crookston Times from the War Road river, says that it is reported there that Col. A. F. Naff, special agent for the interior department, who had gone to investigate timber depredations by the Indians in the Rainy Lake country with an outfit of a half dozen men and a United States marshal, had gone through the ice on Rainy river and that all were lost. Col. Naff left here a few weeks ago to look up the reports that had reached the government that Canadians were stealing large quantities of pine from the Red lake and other government lands along the boundary and the streams tributary to Rainy river. TRAGIC DEATH.

An Insane Ohio Man Shot by a Mob Near Ellettsville, Ill.

ELLETTSVILLE, Ill., April 3.—John Franklin, of Fort Recovery, O., an insane man, not a tragic death near this place Thursday. He and his wife, Mrs. Franklin, were on their way from Ohio to St. Louis on a Lake Erie train, and when they reached Bloomington, Wabash, night, Mrs. Franklin was taken sick and they determined to return to Fort Recovery. At two o'clock Thursday morning Franklin took the train from the east bound Lake Erie train, near Holder, while the train was at full speed. The train stopped and a search was made for Franklin. Mrs. Franklin left the train at Holder and found her husband. They resumed their eastward journey Thursday and at 10 a.m. while the train was pulling out of this place, Franklin fell from the steps of a car, striking his head on a railway tie. He jumped to his feet and declared that a mob was pursuing him wanting to kill him. He was pursued by a crowd. He was pursued by an increasing mob five hours. During this time he "stood off" his pursuers by firing at them with a big revolver.

He entered a farmer's stable, took a horse and rode to a farm. A few minutes further on he changed this horse for another. He was finally stopped by a barbed wire fence and some one in the pursuing party shot him in the shoulder loaded with slugs, wounding him in the knee and face. His leg was cut and he fell. He was then shot in the chest. The affair caused the most intense excitement. The whole country was in pursuit, and out of horseback and in vehicles.

OLD GLORY.

Senator Sherman Introduces a Bill to Regulate a Uniform Flag in the Army and Navy.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—In the senate Thursday Mr. Sherman introduced a bill to regulate the use of a uniform flag in the army and navy, its properties and the location of the stars in the blue field. The flag proposed is to be used on the flag fly of 1900. The arrangement of the stars is as follows: Three in each corner and a central star around which shall be entwined a sufficient number of stars so that the total number in the blue field will represent the total number of states. The bill sets out that the twelve stars in the four corners and the one in the center represent the 13 original states, according to their geographical location on the map, assuming the top of the field to be north, and the other states are represented in the circle of stars in the order in which they were admitted into the union, placing the oldest states nearest the center. The idea carried out in this bill is that of Mr. Alonzo Thayer, of Chicago.

DEVILISH DEEDS

Terrible Crimes Laid at the Door of Henry Bastian.

Four Murders, at Least, Are Attributed to the Illinois Farmer.

Who Committed Suicide Several Days Ago at His Home Near Rock Island, Ill. He Is Believed to Be an Avoidance of Meeting Financial Obligations.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., April 3.—Hundreds of persons Thursday visited the Bastian farm, which is under the possession of Sheriff Hemenway and a corps of deputies. The finding of the decomposed body of John Lunderbock under a pile of rubbish on the farm Wednesday strengthens the general belief that Henry F. Bastian was a human fiend, and that he committed suicide March 13 last because he feared his criminal record was about to be laid bare. Following is a list of men who were taken upon Bastian's farm and mysteriously disappeared shortly after they were paid off and discharged, and all of them are believed to have been slain by Bastian:

Fred Kuschmann, whose body was found a month ago by the road, a mile from the Bastian farm. John Lunderbock, whose remains were uncovered Wednesday, more than a year since he was taken from the Fritz Kiernzen, who has not been seen or heard from since the spring of 1894.

Marshall Lewis, who also disappeared in 1894. Bastian testified at the Kuschmann inquest that he had paid Kuschmann $75 the night of his death.

From the nature of the wounds on Kuschmann and Lunderbock and the circumstances surrounding their deaths, Bastian's method appears to have been designed to avoid meeting his financial obligations.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

An Instance Where It Did Not Prove Murder.

A remarkable case of circumstantial evidence and its uncertainty was recently brought to light at Grayson, Carter county, by the arrest and trial of the wife of Silas Dudley McGlone and Fleming Jordan and two other persons.

In January last Joseph Kimbler, who now owns the land formerly owned by Silas D. McGlone, was clearing some woodland, and under a tree-top which was burned he discovered what he thought were the bones of a human.

He at once had the authorities notified and an arrest was made of four persons to whom the finger of suspicion pointed. At the examining trial the parties were acquitted on account of lack of evidence.

Mr. Charles McGlone was sent to Alabama, where it was thought that Silas McGlone had gone, but in the meantime Mrs. McGlone and Fleming Jordan were rearrested, and the proof appeared so conclusive that their attorneys waived examination and they were committed to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

It was developed at the trial that persons had heard a quarrel between Silas McGlone and his wife a day or two prior to his sudden departure; that he was seen lying by a log near the house by a party who thought he was asleep; that a lantern which he had borrowed from Thomas Tackett was found with the bones, and that he had not been heard from for five years prior to February 9th, 1896; that parties who were passing the house about the time of his sudden and unexplained absence had heard a conversation between Mrs. McGlone and Jordan, in which one said that the other could not be convicted on such evidence; that Mrs. McGlone had told two or three different stories about the piece she thought her husband had gone to.

Under such a state of affairs the people of the county were wrought up to the highest point of excitement, and some were ready to take the law in their own hands.

About this time Charles McGlone returned from a trip to Lawrence county, Ala., and reported that he had found Silas alive and well, but could not get him to return with him, and some doubting Thomases did not believe the report, and in order to satisfy the people, and at the suggestion of Judge Green Morris, County Judge of Carter, and County Attorney Mr. Frank Prater, Messrs. S. J. McGlone of Vanceburg, a cousin of the missing man, and John Bloom were requested to go to Alabama and thoroughly investigate the matter.

They left one week ago, and on Sunday morning last Mr. McGlone returned to Vanceburg, reporting that they found Silas D. McGlone near Poole Postoffice in that state, but he was known there as D. N. Malone, and this fact had prevented the authorities of that county from locating the man.

It was learned that the report or evidence in regard to his being seen by the log near his home was true; that also the report as to the lantern was true.

He had borrowed the lantern, and the night after his first disappearance he had returned to his home and tried to secure the possession of his two boys.

He set the lantern down, and when he returned for it it was gone.

It was also learned that the row between McGlone and his wife occurred as stated by the witnesses.

The mystery as to the bones found is still unsolved.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CROWLEY & CO., Toledo, O.

"A Hebrew Girl" writes as follows to The New York Evening World: "Why should marriage not be a failure when men are looking to marry girls that know how to dance, eat candy, chew gum, go to theaters and balls and spend money buying bargains. I am a hard-working, self-supporting girl with $1,000 my own saving, am a good housekeeper and cook and mend and know how to save a penny, but do not dance or eat candy and do not care for theaters or balls. It seems impossible for me to get married, although I would never be a failure."

Opening at Mrs. L. V. Davis's today. Leave orders with James N. Lynch for The Cincinnati Post, the best afternoon daily at the Ohio Valley.

The Women's Prayer Service will be held in the S. M. C. A. Room this afternoon at 3 o'clock, in care of the Central Presbyterian Church.

The advertising columns of THE LEDGER speak for themselves. They show that people who know how to advertise know also where to advertise.

Let people who have anything to sell advertise in THE LEDGER. Taylor Bros. have sold out their tobacco cotton too long ago to talk about by putting it before the people in this way.

The Enos Taylor was built for this trade, and is now at Elgin, where she has recently been thoroughly overhauled and repainted, and is as good as new.

At Pittsburgh the Ohio has fallen 2.5 and rose that much at Wheeling, while the rise at Parkersburg in twenty-four hours was but 8. At Point Pleasant the river is 4.8 over the danger line of 35 feet and at Callettsburg the rise was 2.5, making the stage 49.5, while 50 feet there is the danger line. At Portsmouth the rise the past twenty-four hours was 2.9, the stage there at 8 o'clock Thursday morning being 45.5. New river rose at Hiram to 11.5, but is now falling. There is 10 feet at Radford, a rise of 2.5, while at Charleston the Kanawha fell 1.7, with a 22-foot stage.
